U. S. DIPLOMATS TELL SOLONS EUROPE ON VERGE OF CHAOS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(UP)—Two key American diplomats in Europe painted a dismal picture of the prospects for peace before a joint session today of the House and Senate military committees which will handle President Roosevelt's proposals for expanding this country's forces on land, sea and in the air.

The committee's session with Ambassadors Joseph P. Kennedy, stationed in London, and William C. Bullitt, in Paris, was a prelude to disclosure of the President's detailed defense proposals in a special message to Congress later this week.

Blame Dictators
A committee member said they described an "utterly chaotic condition" in Europe, caused by the demands of German Fuehrer Adolf Hitler and Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy.

"They went over European affairs step by step from the Munich conference, and showed the trend of affairs," the committee member said. "It certainly was a dismal picture for peace."

Another member said the ambassadors discussed the British and French policies, their future

SEEK WITNESSES IN STATE PARDON CASE

OAKLAND, Jan. 10.—(UP)—Attorney General Earl Warren, "more determined than ever to get the facts," urged an intensified search for two missing witnesses in the state pardon scandal today after what apparently was a stormy session with Superior Judge Mark Lee Megladdery, Jr.

Megladdery and Warren met for 14 minutes in Megladdery's court chambers, where no cases have been assigned to him yet. Both emerged with statements accusing the other of bad faith.

Charges Fly
Megladdery said he was the victim of an "inquisition" and that he would refuse to answer questions put to him by Warren or his aides.

Warren countered with a statement that he had told Megladdery such an attitude "is not in my mind indicative of a free and innocent conscience."

"I am more determined than ever to get the facts," Warren said and a short time later went into conference with Captain of Inspectors Charles Dullea in regard to the search for the missing witnesses.

The two witnesses sought are

Dairymen Plan Price Conference

A program designed to give producers of milk in this region a profit above their cost of production will be considered at a meeting of milk distributors of Orange county at the Farm Bureau offices, 353 South Main street, Orange, Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock, it was announced today by C. J. Marks, secretary of the farm bureau.

The meeting has been called at the suggestion of some of the dairymen and will be in the nature of a conference of all distributors, regardless of any affiliation in the distribution of their milk, Marks said.

All milk distributors of the county are invited to attend the conference, Marks stated.

Press Time Bulletins

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10.—(UP)—Slender charges of mutiny filed against two members of the crew of the schooner Metha Nelson were scheduled for a thorough airing today following the arrival of the craft after an ill-fated cruise into Central American waters.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(UP)—Sen. William E. Borah, R., Idaho, denounced proposals for the United States to apply economic sanctions against aggressor nations today, contending that he would rather have this nation "engaged in shooting soldiers than starving women and children."

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 10.—(UP)—Atty. Gen. Earl Warren today set a 24-hour deadline for the appearance of Clarence (Chick) Leddy, San Jose slayer, and Clarence Bent, San Francisco tavern keeper, named in the so-called "pardon sales" charges. Warren said if Leddy does not appear at the attorney general's office by tomorrow, he will file suit seeking to revoke the commutation of Leddy's life sentence and return him to San Quentin prison.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 10.—(UP)—Formation of a committee of state department heads and key Democratic officials to advise with Gov. Culbert L. Olson, particularly during his convalescence from a nervous exhaustion collapse, was announced officially today by Richard Olson, his eldest son and secretary. The first meeting was held last night and another is set for tomorrow night at the executive mansion, young Olson said.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(UP)—Confronted with committee threats to cut President Roosevelt's request for an $875,000,000 relief appropriation, house leaders today considered organizing a floor fight to get approval of the full amount. A majority of the members of the house deficiency appropriations subcommittee were reported informally, but definitely, agreed on a cut in the fund which must carry on the works program until July 1.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—(UP)—Charged with falsifying a passport, Anita Imelda Bowie, 41-year old socially prominent widow of the late Allan St. John Bowie, Hillsborough engineer, was ordered held for federal grand jury action when she appeared for preliminary hearing today.

Heads Boosters

Chosen last night as president of the newly formed Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce, F. E. (Ed) Farnsworth, Jr., rancher and real estate agent, today announced that directors of the promotion organization would meet at 7:30 p. m. Monday at the Southern Counties Gas company to formulate plans for the group.

JUBILEE SPONSORED BY JUNIOR CHAMBER

Plans for the sponsorship of a Silver Jubilee celebration in Santa Ana were discussed by directors of the newly formed Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce following the election of F. E. (Ed) Farnsworth, Jr., as president of the organization and other officers at a meeting at the Southern Counties Gas company building last night.

Other officers of the booster club elected were: Herb Hill, first vice president; Leroy Burns, second vice president; Henry C. Walker, secretary; and Lloyd Morris, treasurer.

Adopt By-Laws
Following the election of officers a set of by-laws, patterned after those set up by the national headquarters, was adopted by the local club.

Guest at the meeting was Gordon Whitall, city planning consultant, who briefly outlined a long time plan for partially solving the parking problem of the city. No action was taken by the directors on the problem but it was indicated that the parking situation would be studied by the group.

The directors will meet again Monday night at 7:30 p. m. for the appointment of committees for the group and to decide on the meeting place of the next general meeting of the chamber, scheduled Wednesday, Jan. 18.

Besides the officers elected, the directorate of the Junior Chamber includes: Don Fletcher, Al Jasper, Bud Doyle, Ed Guard, Dick Ewert, Frank Briggs and Vic Walker. Walker was chosen as national counselor and will be in charge of correspondence with the state and national organizations.

Injured Officer Will Recover

Although Officer Chet Gross of the Santa Ana police motor patrol, who was injured yesterday noon when his motorcycle and a truck collided, rested fairly well at St. Joseph hospital last night, his injuries were causing considerable pain today. He suffered compound fracture of the right arm, leg and face injuries. His condition was reported "pretty good" today.

Officer Gross, with siren sounding and red light on, was going to the scene of a minor accident at Fourth and Hesperian, when the motorcycle and a bread truck operated by L. H. Cash, 34, Los Angeles, collided. Cash told officers he neither heard the siren nor saw the motorcycle in time to avoid the accident. A dozen witnesses near the scene of the accident reported they heard the siren and saw the motorcycle approaching, according to the investigation.

Planes Hop Off For Havana

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 10.—(UP)—Planes took off in groups of five today for the annual Miami-to-Havana air cruise.

The first group took off from Municipal airport at 9:21 a. m., followed 20 minutes later by another group of five.

The cruise included fliers who attended the recent All-American Air Maneuvers here.

REAL "HE-MAN"

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 10.—(UP)—It took a carpenter to get Rep. Ralph Cowan, Arizona cattleman, into his seat in the state legislature today.

Cowan, six feet six without his boots, was "just too high," so the capitol carpenter added six-inch legs to his desk.

REGENCY TO GUIDE STATE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 10.—(UP)—Administration of the state government became an increasingly important subject today as it appeared that the collapse of Gov. Culbert Olson would prevent him from actively working in the capitol for several weeks.

Formation of an unofficial cabinet seemed the logical outcome as legislators and state officials discussed the best way of keeping the wheels running smoothly. It was expected that Richard Olson, eldest son and private secretary to the governor, and H. Dewey Anderson, state relief administrator, would be the key figures in the new setup.

Son Takes Over
Young Olson has taken the initiative in handling his father's affairs since Olson went to the hospital Saturday after collapsing at the inaugural barbecue only a few hours after freeing Tom Mooney. Anderson has worked closely with the governor since his election, particularly on budget matters.

The item of the budget is the most pressing of many administrative functions on the immediate horizon. The governor had planned to introduce it himself by the end of this week, Phil Gibson, state director of finance, will shoulder this burden in Olson's absence and reportedly will go before the legislature with the completed document before Jan. 20.

NAZIS FIND WRITER GUILTY OF TREASON

BERLIN, Jan. 10.—(UP)—Ernst Niekisch, prominent writer, was found guilty of high treason by the people's court today and sentenced to the penitentiary for life.

He was one of 21 tried on the charge, which included suspicion of plotting against the lives of German leaders and disseminating "bootleg" radio propaganda.

Dr. Wilhelm Drexel, accused of aiding Niekisch, was sentenced to 3½ years in the penitentiary. Karl Troegler, another alleged accomplice, was given 21 months.

Form New Party
The court deducted 21 months from the sentences of Drexel and Troegler in consideration of the time they had already spent in prison. Thus Troegler will be released immediately.

Niekisch and Drexel were sentenced for preparing to commit high treason and attempting to form a new party, but Troegler merely for trying to form a new party.

The others of the 21 defendants will be tried in groups later.

The treason trial was one of the most sensational since the beginning of the Nazi regime six years ago this month. In all, about 120 persons were involved in the charges but only 21 have been ordered to trial. The three convicted today were the first of the 21 to face the court in batches.

Advance indications had been that some of them would be sentenced to the block and the life sentences announced today were a surprise.

May Call Vote On Civil Service

If all Santa Ana city employees are to have civil service, it must be through the vote of the people at an election and not through an ordinance adopted by city council.

That was the reported informal decision of city councilmen at a two and one-half hour unannounced meeting in the city hall last night. Councilmen decided they now prefer to let the people decide the question through an election, it was reported, relieving themselves of the responsibility of making an absolute "yes" or "no" decision on the question.

Tex Oliver Gets Arizona Offer

EUGENE, Ore., Jan. 10.—(UP)—Gerald A. "Tex" Oliver, University of Oregon's head football coach, today said he received an attractive telephone offer to return to the University of Arizona as head coach.

Oliver, who spent five successful seasons at Arizona before coming to Oregon last year, said he could not say whether or not he was seriously interested until he had time to go into details of the proposal. He said he got a "rough outline" of the offer by telephone.

Oliver is coaching at Oregon under a three year contract with two years remaining.

66 PLANES LEAVE SAN DIEGO FOR WAR GAMES ON ATLANTIC

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 10.—(UP)—The navy started two major mass flights from San Diego today. Sixty-six planes participated.

At dawn 18 amphibians roared away for Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, New Orleans and Miami.

Two hours later the first of 48 giant bombers, called "Flying Destroyers," rose from the waters of San Diego bay for a nonstop formation flight to Coco Solo, C. Z.

The big bomber with Flight Commander Marc A. Mitscher at the controls, took off at 8:24 a. m. It circled aloft awaiting the takeoff of its 47 sister ships.

Ambitious Flight
At 8:55 a. m., 12 of the giant bombers were in the air and circling the naval air station. The remaining 36 took off at regular two-minute intervals.

The flight to Coco Solo was one of the most ambitious mass plane maneuvers ever undertaken by the navy. Distance from San Diego to Coco Solo is 2500 miles. Both flights will join the fleet in maneuvers in the Caribbean sea.

The first of the 18 amphibians took off at 6:11 a. m. All were in the air and roaring eastward at 6:37 a. m. Commander Allan Price led this flight. The route was via

Seeks To Hold Service In Jail

Sheriff J. L. Elliott and Dr. Albert Eakin Kelly, pastor of the United Presbyterian church of Santa Ana, today asked the county supervisors to approve a plan for co-ordinated religious services in the county jail. No systematic plan now is practiced.

Dr. Kelly, representing ministerial groups of the county, proposed that the supervisors appoint a chaplain for the jail, to conduct all religious services there, under direction of the ministerial groups.

Three Injured In Explosion

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—(UP)—Burned by an explosion of gasoline fumes in a three story flat, three persons were treated at emergency hospital today. Suffering second and third degree burns was Earl Windegard, 48, Mrs. Louise Bishop, 60 and Mike Shehan, 50.

Firemen said heat generated by friction in handling gasoline soaked clothing ignited the fumes.

TEST BRITISH PEACE POLICY

LONDON, Jan. 10.—(UP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's policy of appeasement of dictators in an effort to dissolve the dangers of war in Europe entered its crucial phase today as he left for Rome to visit Benito Mussolini.

Chamberlain's visit is the fourth he has made to the dictators in three months.

Upon the results depends the future orientation of Chamberlain's appeasement policy. If Chamberlain finds Mussolini obdurate upon the question of continued Spanish civil war intervention and operation of the British-Italian friendship agreement, it is a foregone conclusion that Chamberlain's policy toward the dictators will swing sharply toward a stiffer attitude as regards continued concessions.

Loses Patience
Since the Munich conference at which Czechoslovakia was dismembered, Chamberlain has gradually—rapidly in the last month—lost patience because of the dictators' lack of response to his appeasement policy.

In public speeches and private conversations, he has pretty clearly shown that he thinks it is now the dictators' turn to make some contribution to his appeasement policy. If this is not forthcoming from both Adolf Hitler and Mussolini soon, Chamberlain may be compelled to give up the policy which led to the resignation of Anthony Eden as foreign minister and to world wide criticism of the Munich accord.

Takes Umbrella
In private conversation with friends recently, Chamberlain jokingly indicated his present frame of mind by telling the

Raps Appointment Of Frankfurter

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(UP)—Collis O. Redd, national director of the Constitutional Crusaders of America, told a Senate judiciary committee today that Felix Frankfurter was unfit to sit on the Supreme Court because he violated the "liberalism of Thomas Payne, Washington, Jefferson and all the rest."

Redd testified at a Senate judiciary subcommittee hearing on the nomination of the Harvard law professor. Several witnesses appeared in opposition to the nomination, but there was every indication that the committee and the Senate soon would approve the appointment.

Frankfurter did not attend but was represented by one of his proteges, Dean Acheson, a Washington lawyer who formerly was undersecretary of the treasury but split with the New Deal over monetary policy.

TUSTIN RESIDENTS PROTEST AGAINST INADEQUATE DRAINS

Property owners of the north Tustin area, hard hit by the December storms, today brought their complaint against inadequate drainage facilities to the county supervisors, but found no promise of immediate remedy.

The board still engaged in Jacobs, the Tustin group presented the board with a petition signed by numerous prominent ranchers of the area. Various members of the group spoke in support of the petition.

Offer Labor Teams
The labor of farmers and their teams was offered the county, if the county would undertake the job of handling the storm waters. But there wasn't even enough for that, West said.

Some of the trouble has resulted from diversions of water from its natural channels by private property owners. Such cases Chairman Willard Smith pointed out, were matters between the property owners themselves.

The problem finally was referred to a committee consisting of Flood Engineer M. N. Thompson Highway Superintendent A. A. Beard and County Counsel James E. Walker.

INQUIRY MAY LEAD TO RIGHT PATH OF LIFE FOR 3 YOUTHS

Sheriff's officers yesterday were called upon to be experts in child psychology and, as a result of their investigation, three local boys soon may be on the way to successful careers in adult life.

S. A. Jaysee To Have Press Agent

Santa Ana junior college now will have a press agent. Noting the employment of a full-time publicity man by Fullerton junior college, and the jump in newspaper space devoted to the northern institution as a result, the Santa Ana board of education last night hired Ed Velarde, Jaysee student and former newspaper reporter, to keep his school in the news.

The mother of the children said they have spent five years of their lives in children's home institutions and the effect has been such that she no longer can control them.

Quarrelsome, Energetic They had been quarreling among themselves, she said. They are 11, 13 and 17 years old, respectively, and as energetic as a jitterbug champion. Deputy Walter Tipton of the sheriff's staff, one of those investigating, reported.

"The boys aren't bad," the sheriff declared. "Their energy merely is misdirected." An interview with the boys was held and it was learned they have musical talent and other ability as well as a super-abundance of energy. The sheriff will call in juvenile officials to assist in getting the boys' energy directed into the right channels.

J. C. Students Plan Social Fete

The students' executive board at Santa Ana Junior college announced today that the group of retiring office-holders now comprising the board will hold a social affair. Bill Twist, president of the Associated Students stated the date will be announced soon. Twist instructed Josephine Butler, secretary of the organization, to write to Earl Carroll's Theatre restaurant and to the Wilshire Bowl and obtain particulars concerning the cost, and arrangement of the affair. Those who will participate will be Twist, Miss Butler, Jack Lentz, Walter Swanberger, Phyllis Kogler, Jack Brounink, Roy Potter, Frank Was, Peggy Paxton, and Ed Velarde.

Mother Asks Aid In Hunt for Son

Robert Mitchell, 16-year-old San Bernardino boy, is being sought today as a missing person at request of his mother. She told sheriff's officers Robert, who is using her 1937 Oldsmobile 2-door sedan, 1938 license 7-U-2326, may be visiting a friend in this county. A checkup at the home of Robert's friend in Dana Point revealed the friend has not been home for three weeks. A set of 1938 license plates, No. 6-V-332, also were in the Mitchell car, Mrs. Mitchell said. Robert is described as five feet, 10 inches tall, having brown hair, black eyes and was wearing a blue jacket when he left San Bernardino. He was reported missing late last night.

3 Nabbed As Drunk Drivers; One In Mishap

Three men were in county jail today charged with drunk driving, one arrest having been the result of an accident in which five persons were injured Sunday night on Whittier boulevard north of La Habra.

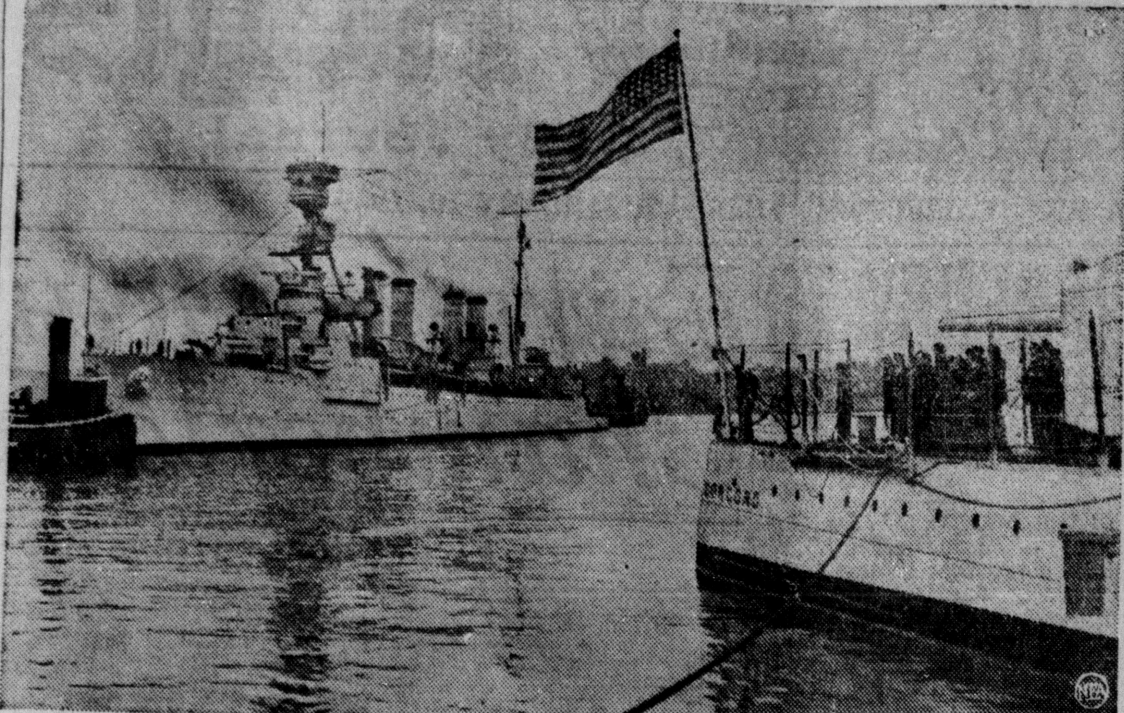

Alfonso Valles, 26, Colton, was driving on Whittier boulevard when his car collided with one operated by James A. Parsons, 62, Nestor, Calif., injuring Mr. Valles and Alice Herrera, 28, Los Angeles. Mrs. Valles, 25, most seriously injured, suffered head injuries and broken leg. Valles is charged with felony drunk driving.

Saturday Hearing

Those in jail after conviction of misdemeanor drunk driving are Alfred Fimbres, 31, Puente, convicted in Anaheim, who is serving 50 days, and C. Nelson Reynolds, 1002 French, Santa Ana, who pleaded guilty in city court yesterday and was jailed by Judge J. G. Mitchell for 75 days. Preliminary hearing for Valles is set for Saturday at 9:30 a. m. before Justice A. C. Earley of La Habra who fixed bail at $1000. Valles failed to make bail.

Antlers are quite different from horns. Horns have a bony core, grown onto the skull; when broken they bleed freely and never grow out again. Antlers have no blood circulation after attaining their growth, and each year drop off cleanly from the head.

'OPPORTUNITY' ON AT LOCAL Y.M.C.A.

With the month of January set as "opportunity month" at the Y. M. C. A., and with two new classes being formed in the gymnasium this week, the local Y building today took on added activity.

The "opportunity" feature stresses the fact that during the month of January only, men may pay their Y dues for the entire year of 1939 with a decided reduction from the regular rate. Tonight the "young men's night" in the gymnasium will be inaugurated, with work in wrestling, weight-lifting, tumbling and other features especially attractive to youth.

Thursday evening at 7:15, a new class for both men and women will begin work under the direction of J. Arthur Anderson, whose instruction in health exercises has been a feature of the physical education program for several years. Each Thursday evening, there will be 45 minutes of exercise, followed by half an hour in the pool for those who desire to swim, or half an hour of games in the gymnasium for those preferring to play. The course is open without charge to Y. M. C. A. members and their wives. For those not included in the membership a small fee is charged.

Place of Ryan Funeral Changed

Ryan, 61, a resident of Yorba Linda for more than 25 years and an employee of the Yorba Linda Water company, will be conducted from the Yorba Linda Friends church tomorrow at 2 o'clock instead of from the Hilgenfeld funeral home as announced in yesterday's papers. The Rev. Sheldon L. Newkirk, pastor of the church, will officiate assisted by the Rev. Clifford Jones a former pastor and now pastor of the Friends Church in Midway City. Burial will be made in Loma Vista cemetery.

"MY RESOLUTION FOR 1939"

"To join Chief of Police Floyd W. Howard and the Santa Ana police department in the campaign to make my home town, Santa Ana, the safest traffic city in the United States in 1939 by carefully watching the street, watching out for children and other pedestrians, paying attention to boulevard stops and other laws and in every way being courteous to other drivers."

POLICE DEPARTMENT PREPARES TO LAUNCH SAFETY DRIVE HERE

Because Santa Ana now is considered one of the nation's "whitest" cities in 1938 with reference to traffic accidents, injuries and deaths Police Chief Floyd W. Howard today announced he and his men are ready to begin a 1939 traffic safety campaign at once.

Thousands of cards in the form of a resolution to be signed by motorists are being printed for distribution today. A copy of the resolution will be found above.

Dr. John Wehrly, sr., who was present, recalled that he was a member of the board of the Santa Ana Valley hospital when the hospital was first opened to the public in 1902. At that time it occupied the former wooden structure to the rear of the present fire-proof building, the old building being removed in recent years to eliminate the probable fire hazard and the grounds subsequently have been landscaped.

Watch Stop Signs

It signifies that the motorist signing it will carefully watch all pedestrians, including children, will pay attention to boulevard stop signs and other traffic laws and be courteous as well as careful at all times.

The resolutions will be distributed to every school child of the city through the schools and downtown merchants, yet to be named, will donate suitable prizes to the 10 children who get the most cards signed, five boys and five girls to be winners.

Theaters To Aid

The Santa Ana theaters, through George King, manager of the West Coast theaters, Vic Walker, manager of Walker's theater, and George Vest, head of the operators' union here, will introduce safety picture trailers to be shown on the screen for several months and will present other special programs. The campaign, to begin January 15, will last 60 days.

FARM BUREAU PLANS TRAINING

The first of three officers' training schools to be conducted by the Orange County Farm bureau will be held next Friday night, with approximately 100 officers of the farm centers, home departments and other units in attendance.

John Kennedy, teacher at Anaheim Union High school, will be the instructor, and Mrs. S. W. Stanley, of Tustin, chairman of the school committee, will preside.

To Conduct Sessions

The first night of the school will feature fundamental principles of conducting meetings, making reports and other matters. R. W. Hull, Orange bureau president, and T. J. Hight, Orange, are scheduled to outline the duties and program of a center president.

The other two nights of the school are scheduled to be held January 27 and February 3, and will be featured by sample reports and programs, criticized by committees of members themselves, as well as by the instructor.

Orange county is a pioneer in the state farm bureau in conducting such training schools. San Diego followed the example and held one last year.

JAPANESE HELD IN L. A. COUP

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10.—(UP)—Mysterious disappearance in recent years of a number of Japanese gamblers, including heads of the "Little Tokio" club, were expected to be cleared up following the arrest today of Shigetoshi Kinowaki, 38, on suspicion of murdering Tericho Nambu, 32, wealthy, Lodi grape grower, last May.

Kinowaki, floor manager of the "Little Tokio" club, and reputed former bodyguard of Hideochi Yamatoda, asserted head of a coast-wide gambling combination, was held after weeks of investigation reaching from Los Angeles to the Mexican border.

"Kidnapers"

Yamatoda, said by police to control the club, is accused by El Centro police of kidnaping two other Japanese in a gaming quarrel. Yamatoda was believed to be in hiding in Mexico.

Kinowaki and Yamatoda face trial here next Monday on a charge of attempting to kill two policemen during a raid on the "Little Tokio" club last fall. Both had been at liberty on bail.

Police said Nambu was only one of several victims of a coast-wide gambling ring. Witnesses who finally agreed to talk when promised security, told investigators they saw Nambu beaten up in the club. Detectives said their information indicated his body was thrown into the ocean.

Nambu left his Lodi ranch last May 12 and drove to Los Angeles. He disappeared a few days later and his car was found in a garage near the club. It was learned that Nambu lost more than $10,000 at the club two years ago.

Yamatoda and two reputed bodyguards, K. Kubo and Maceo B. (Mose) Sheffield, former Los Angeles Negro policeman, were accused of kidnaping "Lefty" Sonada in El Centro. Sonada was said to be a key witness in the investigation of the "Little Tokyo" club. The three were released on $5000 bail each, and Yamatoda was reported to have gone into hiding in Mexico.

TOASTMASTERS IN CHARGE OF SESSION

The program for the annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A. next Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. dining room was outlined when the directors met yesterday.

The nominating committee presented the names of Frank A. Henderson, Ernest H. Layton, John Lutz, Orlyn N. Robertson and the Rev. Gerald Bash as directors for the term of three years. Directors whose terms are expiring are A. W. Gerrard and Dr. Cassius E. Paul. The nominating committee consisted of R. Carson Smith, John A. Henderson and C. L. Pritchard.

Toastmasters in Charge

The program as arranged by the committee, H. G. Nelson and E. H. Layton is to be conducted by Toastmasters of the Y. M. C. A., who will put on a typical Toastmasters meeting, with R. Carson Smith as toastmaster and A. G. Green as critic. Several six minute speeches will be given by members of the clubs, all bearing on phases of Y. M. C. A. work in Santa Ana. This plan has been chosen so as to give the people attending the meeting an opportunity to see just how the Toastmasters carry on in their work of training in speech. It was announced by D. Glenn Tidball, president of the Y, that both men and women are invited. Dinner reservations should be made at once by calling the Y. M. C. A. office.

RUM DEALER HELD IN SALE VIOLATION

Charged with violating the state liquor control act by selling a pint of whiskey to two Fullerton boys, 16 and 17 years old, respectively, Daniel J. Walsh, 40, manager of a liquor store at 927 South Main, was arrested yesterday afternoon.

The alleged offense occurred last Friday and the boys were questioned at a dance here. They asserted that Walsh was the man who sold them the whiskey, according to Capt. R. S. Elliott and Officer Herman Stahl. Walsh pleaded not guilty, furnished $300 bail and was ordered to appear in city court January 19, at 10 a. m., for arraignment. The boys alleged that Walsh did not ask them whether they were over 21 when they approached him to make a purchase.

Fate Of Polish-Jews Threatened As Berlin, Warsaw Breach Widens

BERLIN, Jan. 10. — (UP)—Germany and Poland broke off negotiations on the status of Polish Jews in the Reich today coincident with the arrival of George S. Rublee, American director of the inter-governmental refugee commission, to discuss with Nazis the fate of 600,000 Jews whose migration is demanded by Germany.

The Polish-German negotiations were broken because of a deadlock over how much property Polish Jews should be permitted to remove from the Reich—the same issue that has been a stumbling block for the inter-governmental commission.

Seek Settlement
The Polish delegation had been seeking to end a dispute that started after the Warsaw government enacted new passport regulations which Germany feared would maroon 45,000 Polish Jews in Germany by depriving them of their Polish citizenship. In retaliation, Germany deported 23,000 Polish Jews but called a halt when Warsaw threatened to deport Germans from Poland.

During negotiations Germany declined to permit the deportees to remove more than 25 per cent of their property from the Reich. The Poles said that amount was too small. They returned to Warsaw for further consultations.

Citizenship Peril
It appeared uncertain whether the negotiations would be resumed. Meantime, 6000 deported Polish Jews are camped in barracks on the frontier and thousands face loss of their Polish citizenship.

The breakup of the negotiations momentarily overshadowed the arrival of Rublee and his aides.

Regency Guides California

Actual determination of the mass of figures, estimates, requests and budget detail probably will be undertaken by the unofficial committee, which is likely to include young Olson, Ralph Evans, Olson's executive secretary, Anderson, Gibson, Assembly Speaker Paul Peek and Lieutenant Governor Ellis E. Patterson, presiding officer of the senate.

The "regency committee" would be unable to perform any official acts but would act as a steering committee. Introduction of bills is expected to speed up in both houses as a result of the tentative recess dates of Jan. 25. The assembly Democratic steering committee chose that date, with reconvening set for Feb. 27. Senator Jerrold Seawell, president pro tem of the Republican-controlled senate, was favorable to the proposed dates.

"Wagner Act"
A piece of national New Deal legislation was recommended to apply to the state of California in response to Governor Olson's intention to carry many policies of the Roosevelt administration to California. A "Little Wagner Act" was introduced in the assembly proposing to guarantee workers the right to organize and bargain collectively. A three-man board similar to the National Labor Relations Board would be organized to hear complaints and render decisions, and the bill defines certain unfair labor practices.

Two alternative bills for public utility regulation were introduced, one prohibiting utility companies from expending money either for or against any candidate for or proposition on the ballot, and the other prohibiting such expenditures altogether but providing that they shall not be included in the company's rates. Expenditures for or against candidates, however, would be banned in the second also.

Other Bills
Other bills before the assembly would: Set up a voluntary mediation commission of nine members, to serve without pay but with a $10,000 executive secretary, "to prevent interruption of employment;" permit judges to grant immediate divorce where no children involved, or make interlocutory period shorter than one year; make a felony the use of telephone, telegraph or radio for gambling purposes; provide $2 personal license for retail liquor purchases.

Bills were introduced in both houses to limit the power of a governor in making appointments to term position during his last few weeks in office. Bills were introduced on both sides to abolish the death penalty as punishment for a crime, the assembly version providing in addition that convicted murderers could not be paroled.

Labor Measures

A sheaf of labor bills in the assembly proposed to: Prohibit anti-picketing and anti-handbill ordinances; prohibit injunctions in labor disputes unless evidence of threatened irreparable damage could be shown; provide machinery for a new trial when fraud or perjury shown; prevent recurrence of legal difficulties encountered by Tom Mooney; outlaw vagrancy arrests unless proven alleged vagrant was offered employment and refused it.

Major senate proposals included bills to: Organize a state advertising and publicity commission with an appropriation of $1,500,000 to advertise California; permit ocean fishing from piers or shore without license; provide for central registration of births, deaths and marriages.

carry a crew of three men. The Sikorsky carry six men.

The bombers will be following the fleet of more than 100 warships southward. Like the surface maneuvers, the flight was part of the annual war games, and as such was conducted with considerable secrecy. It was doubted that any report of the flying armada's progress would be made until it reached the big palm-lined seaplane harbor in Coco Solo, the government reservation on the Atlantic side of the Panama canal.

The bombers may cut across the continent over Costa Rica, and complete the flight in 25 hours if they do not encounter headwinds or storms. The shortest route plotted would be between 2500 and 2600 miles and has been covered before by the same type of PB-Y bombers, but in fewer numbers. They are considered the most powerful type of weapon of their kind in the world, with a high throttle they can fly from 170 to 190 miles an hour. Cruising speed is 150 miles per hour.

Reveals Cost Of WPA Projects

FRESNO, Cal., Jan. 10.—(UP)—Earl W. Cummings, district administrator for the Works Progress Administration, said today WPA projects in the five Southern San Joaquin valley counties had cost the federal government almost $7,000,000 since Nov. 1, 1935.

The federal grants, bolstered by appropriations of more than $2,500,000 by county and city governments, were used for projects in Fresno, Kern, Tulare, Kings and Madera counties. Largest single slice of the appropriations, amounting to $2,525,380, was spent in Fresno county. Kern county was second with $2,189,848. The three other counties and their appropriations were Tulare, $1,401,864; Kings, $359,882, and Madera, $392,150.

Ickes Okehs Plan For Oil Leases

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(UP)—Secretary of Interior Harold I. Ickes today authorized holders of gas or oil prospecting leases to file required $1000 compliance bonds without residing in states where the leases are held.

Ickes said the new rule will enable thousands of lease holders to exchange their permits for five years leases on western public lands. It previously had been required that individual sureties must reside in the same state and judicial district as that in which the land is located.

Although swamped by offers to capitalize on the new freedom gained through his pardon after 22 years in prison, Mooney turned down the offers with one exception.

He was to be given a small fee for appearing at 6 p. m. tonight in a broadcast from Columbia's San Francisco station K.S.F.O. in a "We, the People" program.

Gets Checkup
Following the broadcast Mooney will speak to molder's local 164, of the American Federation of labor, of which he was a member when convicted with Warren K. Billings of the San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing in 1916.

Tomorrow he enters a hospital for a checkup on his physical condition by Dr. Leo Eloesser, noted diagnostician, who gave up one of the busiest practices in San Francisco to outfit and run a medical aid center for Spanish Loyalists.

Mooney has been treated from time to time in prison for stomach ulcers but appeared to stand up well during his pardon hearing and celebrations in his honor since that time.

Stays in State
Plans for Mooney to tour the nation were turned down by the 56 year old prisoner who said he would not leave the state until Billings is freed.

"I hope we can obtain Billings' release shortly," he said. "And then we'll talk about leaving the state."

Billings is in Folsom prison. He was prevented from obtaining a pardon at the same time Mooney did because he has a prior conviction against him. He served from 1913 to 1915 on a charge of carrying dynamite caps.

The conviction was made during a labor dispute and has been described by Mooney as the work of "labor spies" prior to the time he and Billings assertedly were "framed" of the Preparedness Day bombing in which 10 were killed and 40 injured.

Japanese Plan Absolute Control

different sections of China. While the exact form of the unified administration has not been announced, it is thought that it will be a federal system of district governments tied together with a central directing body.

The new government will be installed with a program of friendliness toward Japan and enmity toward Communism. It will be recognized by Japan as the rightful successor of Chiang Kai-Shek and the Kuomintang. Once a so-called central government backed by Japan is established in China, efforts will be made to gain recognition of it by other powers. The anti-Communist allies of Japan, Germany and Italy, may extend the desired recognition, but the big democracies, the United States, Britain and France, are not expected to do so.

Japan hopes to raise China to the status of a "modern state" which runs its own affairs, does not grant such privileges as extraterritoriality or concessions under foreign rule. Therefore China eventually would have neither foreign concessions nor extra-territoriality.

Olson Better; Shaves Self

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 10.—(UP)—Gov. Culbert L. Olson stopped his old straight razor today and shaved himself in a hospital bed.

The governor appeared greatly refreshed after his two-day enforced rest in the hospital resulting from his collapse from overwork and nervous exhaustion Saturday while addressing an inaugural barbecue crowd.

Olson did a creditable job of shaving himself, his physicians said, but he was unaccustomed to the shaving cream on hand at the hospital and sent a messenger to the executive mansion to bring his shaving mug for use the next time.

After shaving, the governor sat up in bed and ate breakfast.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—(UP)—Miss Joy Hodges, stage and screen singer, returned today from six months in Hollywood with an astonishing story of the effect of love on Lee Bowman, movie actor.

Miss Hodges displayed an engagement ring that Bowman gave her.

"He's gorgeous," she said. "I'll never forget the night we became engaged. I had him over to dinner and he was so thrilled he actually turned green at the table and had to leave. He explained that he had never been engaged before and it was almost more than he could stand."

"Why, he couldn't even get out of bed all the next day. It didn't hit me quite that bad. Ever since I can remember I've always been in love with someone I have been sure I would marry. But this is different."

Police To Check Records of Pair

Robert E. Duggins, ex-prize fighter and a transient to Santa Ana, and his companion, George H. Clark, transient, were booked at county jail yesterday to begin serving terms of 15 days each as the result of their pleas of guilty before City Judge J. G. Mitchell.

Duggins was arrested on a drunk driving charge, Clark on a charge of vagrancy. The jail terms were meted out so that Santa Ana police may check on the men's histories, it was reported. Both were finger-printed yesterday. Willard E. Paxton, Anaheim, was fined $8 for speeding; Archie Hamilton, Anaheim, $5 for boulevard stop violation, and Marjorie Sparks, Route 2, Anaheim, $5 for jumping a signal.

Militant Parson Wins Release

MERCED, Cal., Jan. 10.—(UP)—Rev. C. C. Fisher was released from the county jail here today because his faithful congregation converged on the jail, sang a hymn and took up a collection sufficient to pay his fine.

Pastor of the Gospel Defender's Mission at Dos Palos, Rev. Fisher was convicted of violating the city's fire ordinance by erecting a tent for religious services. He refused to pay a $100 fine and began serving a 50 day sentence.

Rev. Fisher said he thought every minister should spend 30 days in jail "to bring home to them what conditions really are."

VALLEJO, Calif., Jan. 10.—(UP)—Masasuke Inouye, 35, Japanese, was arrested today on information from Los Angeles police that he was wanted there on murder charges, Chief of Police B. L. Forman announced.

Inouye, said to have worked here under the name of Sam Aohi, was arrested by Chief Forman, Lieutenant Ed Beck and Officer Joseph Calla in a Japanese restaurant.

He was booked "enroute to Los Angeles" and held for Los Angeles police.

British Peace Policy Tested

story of an old lady with an umbrella who, pursued by a lion, suddenly turned, opened her umbrella and frightened the lion, which turned tail. Chamberlain concluded his story smilingly: "And I am taking my umbrella to Rome."

Thus the Chamberlain-Mussolini conversations may mark the turning point in European diplomatic tension, which relaxed for a while after Munich but has been rising again during the last few weeks. This tension is due to uncertainty and general fear that the dictators are plotting another move in the spring which will again shake Europe. It is not based on anything specific and opinions differ widely as to what the move may be. Nevertheless the man in the street seems to have decided that March will be the critical month.

Disillusioned
Since Munich there has been a remarkable psychological transformation of government and public opinion and this undoubtedly will exert its effect upon the future of British policy. The attitude and actions of Hitler and Mussolini in the three months since Munich, which Great Britain hoped would mark the beginning of an era of "peace for our time," have gravely disillusioned leaders of public opinion and the masses of the people.

Even J. L. Garvin, editor of the Sunday newspaper, Observer, one of the most enthusiastic supporters of the Munich agreement and long perhaps the most vocal advocate of friendship with Italy and Germany, now admits that the sequel to the Munich conference is a "bitter tale."

Cite Attacks
Factors which have contributed to the psychological alteration include provocative speeches by Hitler and his propaganda minister, Paul Joseph Goebbels; German official and press attacks upon Anthony Eden and Earl Baldwin, Chamberlain's predecessor as prime minister, culminating in the characterization of Baldwin by one newspaper as a gutter snipe; German press charges of British "atrocities" in Palestine and an accumulation of other pin pricks which finally led Chamberlain to say that he was still "waiting for a sign" from Germany that she would contribute to appeasement.

But the biggest factor was Germany's notification of her intention to avail herself of a clause in the British-German naval treaty to practically double her submarine tonnage. This spotlighted the fact that Germany already possesses more submarines, in number, than does Britain. Millions of Britons still recall from personal experience 1918 when German submarines nearly starved Britain; and Germany's decision started them thinking hard.

CHAMBERLAIN DALADIER CONFERENCE

PARIS, Jan. 10.—(UP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain conferred with French government heads today on united and firm methods of persuading Premier Benito Mussolini to withdraw Italian troops from Spain and of breaking a three power Mediterranean appeasement deadlock created by Fascist demands against France.

The British prime minister, with Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax and their advisers, arrived from London at 5:45 p. m. and motored to the foreign office, where they discussed the troubled European situation over the tea table in the Salon De La Rotonde.

United Action
The French consultants were headed by Premier Edouard Daladier, Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet; Alexis Leger, permanent undersecretary of the foreign office, and their advisers. As the two countries solidified their common resistance towards Italy's Mediterranean demands on France, it became apparent that Chamberlain had a clear program for his visit to Mussolini in Rome, where he arrives tomorrow. Reliable information was that the program includes the following:

1.—Chamberlain will make an effort to "mediate" between France and Italy. Bonnet informed the cabinet today that Britain had given assurance that Chamberlain would do so.

2.—Britain and France will insist that they will not grant beligerent status to Gen. Francisco Franco, which would aid the Spanish Insurgents to win the civil war.

Special Classes For Handicapped Children Mapped

Special classes for handicapped children will get under way in Santa Ana next Monday, according to announcement by Superintendent Frank Henderson at last night's meeting of the board of education.

Henderson said that Dr. Lee Edward Travis, psychiatrist and psychologist, of University of Southern California, would be here today to interview and examine parents and children who are prospective attendants in the classes. Approximately a dozen children are expected to be enrolled.

The board last night approved Henderson's recommendation that Mrs. Sigrid Brown, who has been teaching handicapped children in their homes on a day-to-day basis, be elected a regular teacher of the classes for the rest of the year.

HOSTILE TREND IN LEGISLATURE

FORT WORTH, Tex., Jan. 10. (UP)—W. Lee O'Daniel, the most amazing political figure in Texas this generation, will be inaugurated as governor Jan. 17, but neither supporters nor opponents will predict what the next two years will bring.

The flour salesman was swept into office in the first Democratic primary, although respected and alert men in state life opposed him. O'Daniel platform was the Ten Commandments and his weapons were a radio microphone, a sound-wagon and a "hill-billy" band that played the candidate's own compositions.

Never An Outsider
O'Daniel was the first newcomer ever to be nominated governor in the state without a run-off. A few governors have been nominated on the Democratic ticket, but never an outsider. This was the first precedent O'Daniel broke.

Other traditions have been discarded since the first votes were cast. O'Daniel recommended, after his first primary victory, that the voters elect in the run-off primary six men he endorsed for other elective state offices. Two were defeated, and most politicians considered that O'Daniel's act was a mistake.

Advisory Council Formed
Next, O'Daniel invoked the criticism of state legislators by inviting a group of business men, farmers, and executives to form an advisory council to confer with him on government problems. The state's elected lawmakers protested that the extra-legal board was usurping the legislature's functions.

Increased old age assistance was the one political plank that O'Daniel adopted. So great was its appeal that the Ohio-born poet-salesman won by an overwhelming vote despite criticism that he was a Kansas-reared "Yankee" running in a Southern state, without even paying his poll tax.

Strong Opposition
Post-election developments crystallized the opposition to the "unknown" politician, and it now is predicted that the legislature will deal strongly with the new governor.

O'Daniel has announced that his first official act will be to seek $30-a-month pension for everybody past 65 who can qualify under the constitution. Such a program, opponents declare, will bankrupt the state by increasing its annual expenditures 25 percent or more.

Attempts to ascertain what tax sources O'Daniel hopes to tap for pension revenue have brought evasive answers. The governor-elect has mentioned that he intends to recommend some reorganization of state departments, but the money saved thereby could pay only a small part of the proposed pensions.

Ralph Sheldon Is Speaker At Meet

GARDEN GROVE, Jan. 10. —"Landscaping of the Home," was the subject discussed at the meeting of the Woman's Civic club on Friday afternoon by Ralph Sheldon, of the Bland Nursery of Santa Ana. He stressed the idea that shrubs should be planted to frame the house rather than to hide it and that stepping stones were being used more than walks as they have the tendency to blend in with the landscaping. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. W. V. Brady, program chairman. Announcement was made of the Bible section meeting on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Edward Chaffee and that the Booklover's section would meet on January 20 at the home of Mrs. B. A. Wisner, with Mrs. A. J. Woodworth giving a review of the book, "Rebecca."

Surprise Party Given Couple

U. gathered at their home in Santa Ana for a covered dish dinner. After dinner various games were enjoyed by the following: Mr. and Mrs. Leland Dunham, of Fullerton; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hunt, the Misses Dorothy Knapp, Betty and Ruth Lehnhardt, Frances Hammon, Gladys Cockerton, Ethelyn Lee, Jennie Hedstrom, Phyllis Shreeves, Mrs. Clarence Cole, Ralph Fury, Archie Allen, Earl Henry, the Rev. William Keech and Mr. and Mrs. Edson.

It is estimated that waters of the Rocky Mountain region were stocked with trout about 6,000,000 years ago, before the impossible mountain barriers of today existed.

THROUGH TO SEE NOONDAY SHOW

Tickets for box lunches to be served at Walker's theater Thursday noon when service club members from all over the county gather for a vaudeville show, must be purchased by tomorrow noon, those directing arrangements for the show, declared today. They may be obtained at The Register business office.

The party, at which a score of movie stars and players will appear in person, is being sponsored by the Santa Ana Lions and Kiwanis clubs. Charley and Vic Walker are providing the entertainment. David Howell, master of ceremonies for the show, is a radio commentator.

Safety Campaign

Al Romaine, producer of shows, is responsible for getting all of the motion picture and stage stars to come for the service club program. They are able to make the trip to Santa Ana because of a safety campaign now being started by Police Chief Floyd W. Howard.

It is expected that the theater will have a capacity audience for the entertainment. Most of the local service club members will be in attendance and Brea and Garden Grove clubs have reported their membership will attend en masse.

Notables Listed

Among those who will appear on the program aside from the three Orpheum vaudeville acts, Caprini sisters, Frances Dexter and Gifford and Pearl, will be Jess Prouty, Shirley Deane and Russell Gleason and the Jones Family, Frankie Darro, John Trent, (LaVerne Browne, Orange), Marie Wilson, Jackie Searle, Edith Fellows, Barbara Read, Nancy Wellford, Joan Woodbury, Henry Wellwood, Frank Albertson, Evelyn Knapp, Fritz Leiber and Ev and Red Wallace and their 14-piece orchestra.

Shower Given On Birthday

GARDEN GROVE, Jan. 10. —At the regular meeting of members of a sewing club held Friday evening at the home of Mrs. John Kraushaar on Pine street, the occasion was marked by a handkerchief shower in honor of Mrs. Howard Moore on her birthday anniversary.

After a social evening and needle work the hostess served refreshments on card tables. Others present were Mrs. Joe Harless, who will entertain the club at her home in Santa Ana on January 19, Mrs. Leslie Waight, Mrs. Bill Noble, Mrs. Rhome Treece, and Mrs. Al Bradley.

SCORE OF DENTISTS INSPECT STUDENTS; BOARD HAS SESSION

Two dozen Santa Ana dentists yesterday began a general inspection of the dental condition and needs of Santa Ana school children, and completed their job in the first of the city's 14 elementary schools.

The 24 dentists examined the students at McKinley school yesterday, contributing their services without charge under a plan recently approved by the board of education, which heard the report last night. Any dental defects discovered will be reported to the parents of the children.

Canvass Students

The infantile paralysis control committee, headed by Mrs. W. T. Kirven, was granted permission last evening to solicit school children for 10 cents each as a contribution toward the control fund.

Deny Request

Having given the Full Gospel Assembly a special rate of $35 per day, or $15 per session, for use of the high school auditorium for a convention of Christ's Ambassadors, young people's group, on a Friday evening, all day Saturday, and Sunday morning and afternoon, the board last night refused to make further reductions in the rate. Chairman George Wells was inclined to make further concessions, in view of the fact that 1200 to 1500 delegates would spend a considerable sum in Santa Ana, but other members held that the $35 rate was already below the cost of opening the auditorium.

Leaves Granted

Leave of absence was granted to Mrs. Maxine Bryte, of Julia Lathrop school, for the rest of the year, and to Mrs. Ruth Low, of Willard school, for the rest of this year and all of next year. A contract was extended to Alice Lamb for the second semester at Willard, teaching in place of Mrs. Marion Scott, who is on leave.

Garden Grove Orange Association In Annual Meet

85 CARS SOLD IN LAST YEAR, REPORT

GARDEN GROVE, Jan. 10.—Out of a tree crop of 355 cars, the Garden Grove Mutual Orange Association packed and shipped 851-2 cars of fancy and choice fruit and sold 1041 tons of culls, standards and ponies at the back door, to the government, and to Al Juices, Inc., according to the annual report of E. J. Smale, association manager, at the annual meeting held this afternoon, at the Garden Grove Women's Club. The business sessions followed a banquet which was attended by 60 growers and guests.

Slightly more than 14 per cent of the fruit was exported, according to Smale's report, and 32 cars were sold to the government. The sales to the government enabled the association to speed up the movement of the fruit and to complete the picking schedule sooner.

Mr. Smale declared that it was inevitable that orange growers in some of their fruit as juice because of the public's general acceptance of and increasing demand for fruit juices of all kinds—pineapple, tomato, grape and even orange juices, for example. The producer of fruit who does not use some of it as juice is losing some of his potential market to those who do.

Because of the low prices received for fruit the season just past, the board of directors decided not to withhold any moneys for depreciation and revolving funds until after this coming season.

John W. Crill, chairman of the board of directors, presided at the meeting. Mr. Crill is also chairman of the board of directors of California Citrus Inc., and explained to the growers some of the details of the plant's operations and its prospects. He also introduced the members of the Mutual Orange Distributors, Redlands, the marketing association with which the local house is affiliated. The speakers were J. H. Strait, president, Bruce McDaniel, general manager; J. A. Steward, sales manager.

P. E. Plans Large Culvert Project

Word has been received by the Orange County Farm bureau from O. A. Smith, president of the Pacific Electric Railway company, that arrangements have been made to install a large culvert in the company's fill at Stearns Station south of Yorba Linda, where some difficulty has been experienced in drainage of storm waters of that region.

During the storms of last winter and the winter previous, considerable damage was done in the vicinity of the culvert by excess flood waters and this action is taken, it is stated, in order to help prevent any further difficulty with respect to drainage.

Jailed After Fatal Beating

FRESNO, Cal., Jan. 10.—(UP)—A coroner's jury today held Severo Alvarez, 50 year old rancher, responsible for the death of the infant boy born to his unwed daughter.

The jury decided the child was killed by blows dealt by Alvarez with homicidal intent.

Alvarez is being held in the Fresno county jail awaiting a preliminary hearing on a murder charge.

Josephine Alvarez, daughter of the rancher and mother of the slain child, told officers her father beat the day-old boy to death because he "didn't want it around." The child was born Dec. 30.

Alvarez admitted he buried the child but said he had no part in its death. The infant's body, bound in an old blanket, was exhumed from a shallow grave in the corral of the Alvarez ranch four days ago.

CHAPERAU ON TRIAL AS JEWEL SMUGGLER

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—(UP)—Albert N. Chaperau, already convicted of having smuggled $1833 worth of Parisian clothes for the wife of Justice Edgar N. Lauer of the state supreme court, goes to trial today charged with having slipped $4885 worth of jewelry into the country for the comedian George Burns.

Jack Benny, another comedian, who arrived by airplane last night from Hollywood, goes before the federal grand jury this afternoon presumably to be questioned about reports that Chaperau smuggled $1200 worth of jewelry for him.

Admitted Charge

Chaperau stood trial without a jury before Judge Murray Hulbert yesterday, claiming that he had diplomatic immunity from customs as a commercial attaché to the Nicaraguan consulate. He had admitted evading duty on the finery and jewels, which he peddled at bargain prices to celebrities here and in Hollywood.

Burns and Mrs. Lauer had pleaded guilty to complicity in the smuggling and their sentences were deferred until after disposition of the charges against Chaperau, who also is charged with a passport fraud.

New Charges

Yesterday's conviction made Chaperau liable to a sentence of eight years imprisonment and a $20,000 fine. The charges against him today carried a maximum sentence of 18 years imprisonment and $45,000 fine.

The grand jury was still taking evidence of his activities. Benny said he was "here on my own volition, and not under subpoena." He was supposed to have bought jewels from Chaperau for his wife, Mary Livingstone, who appears in his radio programs.

Burns had confessed that he bought diamond bracelets from Chaperau for his wife and radio partner, Gracie Allen. Mrs. Lauer had met Chaperau in Paris last fall and had given him her new winter wardrobe to smuggle into the United States. It was seized by customs men in a raid on the Laurs' apartment.

Seek Expansion Of Farm Program

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(UP)—A conference of agriculture department officials, state farm experts and cotton producers today recommended a $1,000,000,000 expansion of the Agricultural Adjustment Act and rejected all programs offered as substitutes for the present farm law.

In a report to AAA Administrator R. M. Evans and to Congress, the group asked particularly for $400,000,000 to $500,000,000 for additional parity payments to cotton farmers.

C. G. Henry, Memphis, Tenn., was chairman of the conference which was composed of men from 16 southern and western states.

Chief proposal adopted by the group suggested an increase in parity payments to producers of cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco and rice.

SERIAL STORY

NO TIME TO MARRY

BY ELINORE COWAN STONE
COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JANET DWIGHT, heroine. She was engaged to handsome young architect.

LANCE BARSTOW, hero. Lance had great dreams for the future. So did.

CYNTHIA CANTRELL, orphaned granddaughter of great-aunt Mary Cantrell. Still another dreamer was BARNEY MCKNIGHT, newspaperman. But Barney was more than a dreamer.

Yesterday, Janet looks back on her engagement to Lance Barstow. As she is packing some of her hope chest gifts, Cynthia comes in, asks her unexpectedly if Lance has called yet!

CHAPTER II

STILL deliberately avoiding Janet's troubled eyes, Cynthia turned to Mrs. Cantrell.

"Sorry to have passed you and Jan up for lunch, Grams," she said. "I met a friend at Ziegler's while I was checking up on the flowers for the bridesmaid's party. He asked me to food at the Iroquois Club."

Still concerned with her own bewilderment, Janet asked absent-mindedly, "Who was it, Cyn?"

Cynthia hesitated an almost imperceptible instant before she blurted out half defiantly, "Timothy Benton."

Timothy Benton was junior partner of the firm of Hollowell and Benton for which Lance worked.

"Why, Cynthia," Janet cried, "I didn't know you even knew him! And you really oughtn't. Lance says he's—"

She broke off, uncertain how to go on under Cynthia's level, mocking glance.

"He's what?" Cynthia challenged.

She was a slight, dark-haired girl, with carefully assumed violet eyes in a pale, heart-shaped face which tapered to a chin at once too sensitive and too defiant, and a mouth whose vulnerable curve belied the cynicism of the eyes.

"Well," Janet said, "to begin with, he's years older than you."

"But still able to totter about, and terribly amusing."

"The two wives who divorced him didn't seem to find him so amusing."

"But aren't you forgetting, my dear?" Cynthia drawled. "I'm not his wife. If he wants me to play with him, he has to be amusing."

"What does Barney McKnight think about your running around with Mr. Benton? I mean—"

Janet stopped, wishing she had not begun as Cynthia's face went suddenly tight.

"Barney," Cynthia said dryly, "has stopped caring to amuse me himself since he has found out that I have no idea of getting married on a sports reporter's salary in these expensive times."

JANET said after an incredulous silence, "You don't mean that you won't marry Barney because you're afraid of being poor, Cyn?"

"Why not? Oh, it's all very well for you to be noble, Jan! You're sure of being able to wear ringless silk stockings if you never get married."

Janet glanced toward Aunt Mary for moral support, but the old lady went placidly on with her stitching, only the straight line of her mouth offering any index to her feelings.

Involuntarily Janet's thoughts ran back to the evening when she first told Aunt Mary and Cynthia of her own engagement to Lance Barstow. She had told them while the three women were finishing their dinner.

In the pause that followed, Cynthia had set down her coffee cup with exaggerated precision, moistened her lips, and said, "Quick work, Jan! I seem to have underestimated my little cousin."

Even while Janet had wondered vaguely why she had never noticed before how candle light sharpened the contrast between the rouge on Cynthia's high cheek bones and the clear pallor of her skin, her cousin had risen abruptly, and with a hasty, "Sorry I haven't time now to tell you just how lucky I think you are, Jan. I have a date this evening," went swiftly out of the room.

"Suddenly, she couldn't tell why, she felt that something was wrong."

Janet had followed her exit with hurt, bewildered eyes. Then she turned to her aunt.

"You're glad for me, anyhow, aren't you, Aunt Mary?" she asked.

AUNT MARY had opened her lips as if to speak, closed them tightly, and said, "I hope you will be very happy, my dear. He is a most engaging young man."

"And you do think I'm right—even if I have known him only six months," Janet had persisted, hardly understanding why she pressed the point.

Again Aunt Mary had closed her lips firmly before she spoke. Then she put one thin old hand over the girl's clasped hands and said quietly, "My dear, it isn't advice you want from me. You've made up your own mind. And if there's anything I've learned in 76 years, it is that people have to make their own decisions and live their own lives. No one can do it for them."

Aloud Janet said to her cousin, who had gone to the window and stood, apparently absorbed in the spectacle of the avenue below, "Of course, Cyn, it's really not my affair after all. And it isn't as if you were the kind who falls in love with a man just because he takes her out to lunch."

"Exactly!" There was a jeering note in Cynthia's slow, drawing voice. "What a comforting thought!"

A knock sounded at Janet's door, and Margy, the maid, peered inside to say, "It's that newspaper reporter of Miss Cynthia's. He wants to know—"

BUT already a rangy, dark young man had stepped inside the room.

"It almost looks," he said, sweeping the startled faces turned toward him with a twinkling glance, "as if I weren't expected. The office was supposed to telephone you I'd be dropping in, Mr. Cantrell."

"Hi, Barney!" Cynthia said.

WHAT IS THE CAPITAL OF AUSTRALIA?

LONG WAY, BUT ANSWER'S 'NO!'

The next one's a long way off, but even if you're going to the Rose Bowl game you must obey the law.

That was the statement today of Capt. H. C. Meehan, head of the California highway patrol, after receiving a series of questions from interested motorists.

Dangerous Practice
"Is it permissible for school youths to crowd into small cars beyond their seating capacity when they parade around, advertising or going to and from athletic games?" one motorist asked. "No," Captain Meehan answered. "It is decidedly a dangerous practice and the vehicle code specifies that no person shall drive a vehicle when it is so loaded, or when there are in the front seat such number of persons as to obstruct the view of the driver to the front or sides of the vehicle or as to interfere with the driver's control over the driving mechanism of the vehicle."

Makes a Difference
"Is there a line drawn between a felony and a misdemeanor when a person is driving a car while intoxicated?" another person asked. "There is, definitely," Captain Meehan stated.

"If the person driving a car while intoxicated does any act forbidden by law or neglects any duty imposed by law in the driving of a vehicle, which act or neglect causes bodily injury to any person, a felony has been committed. Otherwise the offense is considered a misdemeanor under the law."

Hero Cops Ambush Smugglers

Here are two of the heroes of the dramatic coup by which New York police captured $100,000 worth of dope and three alleged smugglers. Detective John Sweeney, left, did dangerous work by posing as a crooked cop, running a small consignment of dope into Brooklyn, and winning the confidence of the gang so that a large consignment could be seized. Patrolman John Bute, right, of the Harbor Squad, was shot in the hand during a gun fight with the dope smugglers.

When the most elaborate trap in the history of New York's police department was sprung, these three men were caught and held as alleged members of an opium-smuggling gang. They are, left to right, Luigi Esposito, 42; Salvatore Luisi, 22; Frank Visciano, 49. Police pretended to be crooks to learn the secrets of the gang, finally shot it out with the smugglers as they attempted to land a $100,000 opium shipment on a Brooklyn pier. The dope was seized.

Effective Treatment of Old Skin Disease Is Recent Development

Usually in middle age, but sometimes in childhood, there appears on the skin (chiefly of the face) an inflammatory condition of which the chief manifestations are redness and scaling. Women are affected more often than men.

It has been repeatedly suggested that this condition is due to tuberculosis and also that it might be caused by a streptococcus. The condition frequently occurs in people who have poor circulation of blood in the skin. Apparently exposure to cold makes the condition worse.

Many different classifications have been suggested for this disease—most of them referring to its distribution on the skin. In some instances the condition affects the nose, cheeks, ears and scalp. In other cases it spreads to the upper part of the chest and the hands. There are still other types which seem to affect the entire body.

In those cases in which the disease spreads all over the body, the results are serious and the likelihood of cure slight. However, in the types in which the condition is somewhat limited modern methods of treatment seem to be able to produce excellent results.

While the description of the condition that has been given does not seem to differentiate it very much from conditions like ordinary eczema or from certain forms of acne, the specialist in diseases of the skin is usually able to make the diagnosis promptly because of definite characteristics.

Notwithstanding that lupus erythematosus was first described more than 100 years ago, it is only recently that much encouragement has been given to patients by the development of modern methods of treatment.

Of course the first step is to remove all possible foci of infection elsewhere in the body since either the tuberculosis organism or the streptococcus organism may be located in some other tissue than just in the skin. Obviously, if such foci of infection are found, the first steps in treatment must be directed toward their control.

For the immediate inflammation of the skin all sorts of ointments are available as well as various types of solutions which aid in controlling the swelling and irritation.

Quite recently injections of quinine and bismuth have been tried with considerable success and also injections of preparations of gold. Most recent of all attempts, however, has been the use of the new preparation of sulfanilamide, which seems to have been successful in a few cases beyond anything heretofore attempted. No doubt these cases were of the streptococcal variety rather than of the tuberculous since the sulfanilamide does not appear to have exerted any specific effect on the tuberculous organism.

ELWOOD BEAR WILL CONDUCT SYMPHONY

Elwood Bear, active in music circles here for many years, will conduct the federal symphony orchestra Thursday evening, January 26. This was the announcement today by Leon Eckles, district supervisor of the Orange county federal music project.

For the past two years, Bear has been affiliated with the orchestra as concertmaster. The coming occasion marks his initial direction of the federal musicians. He was former conductor of the Santa Ana symphony.

Opens With Overture
Slated for presentation at the high school auditorium, the program will open with the overture to the Russian opera, "Russian and Lullaby," by Glinka. "The overture," said Eckles, "is a solid piece of writing, sketched on broad lines and having a fantastic coloring quite in keeping with the subject of the opera which belongs to a remote and legendary period in Russian history, the days of old when the Slavs were still pagans. It is essentially Russian in feeling." The concert will conclude, the official said, with Friedrich Volkman's "Serenade," and the overture to Wagner's "The Flying Dutchman."

Plans Set For S. A. Municipal Election April 10

News behind the news

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—A notion is widespread that the dictators have wrought some economic magic which stands as a challenge to democracy. Even Mr. Roosevelt said in his congressional message the totalitarians had put their men to work and the question now is whether democracy can do likewise without sacrificing freedom.

A government officer has just finished looking into the prosperity that Hitler has wrought and compared it with the supposedly current unprosperous condition of the United States. His conclusion is a lot of Americans are looking at Germany through the wrong end of the telescope.

His report shows (it will be out someday soon at least in part) the magical German standard of living is about on the plane of American slums. The first thing we must do if we want to reach his level is to cut all American salaries about 50 per cent, and put about 70 per cent of our people on the government payroll at a wage no American now would work for.

There are 5 to 6 million unskilled laborers in Germany whose wages are fixed by the government at 24 marks a week. This figure comes from no less an authority than the German Institute of Business Research, a government organization.

The mark is supposed to be worth 40 cents, but not to the German workers. In terms of things they can buy, it is worth about 25 cents. There 5 to 6 million workers therefore are getting about $6 a week. Our WPA workers average more than twice as much, $14 a week.

Average wage of all workers in Germany, rich and poor alike, is about 200 marks a month. In terms of food prices this is $50 a month. In terms of clothing and other necessities of life, it is worth about $60 or $70 a month. A fair and conservative estimate therefore, is that the average German wage is $12.50 to $15 a week. Average wage in manufacturing alone in the U. S. is $23.32 according to the bureau of labor statistics. For all the U. S. our wage level is certainly twice as high as Hitler's.

The joke of Hitler's claim that he has put everyone to work is exposed by the fact that these $6 a week workers were formerly on the dole, where they received the same salary without working. Hitler has not improved their lot.

In Berlin the Nazis have a neat way of handling people who want mostly. When they apply, they get to the dole—youth girls Nazis round them up in busses and take them outside the city where they are put to work on the roads, carrying stones. For this they receive 17 marks a week and lunch. In terms of food (which is all these can spend it on) this is $4.25 in the Hitler Utopia.

The WPA minimum for work relief is $5.25, in this challenged democracy.

What the German Utopians pay for food as compared with American Democrats and Republicans is set forth in this following table:

EDUCATORS EXPAND PROGRAM OF ADULT EDUCATION IN S. A.

Adding $2000 to the budget of the Santa Ana adult education program last night, the board of education approved addition of classes in entomology, home nursing, plan reading, showcard writing, retail salesmanship, store management, and life-saving essentials of first aid.

The board's action, taken at the recommendation of Superintendent Frank Henderson and the request of Mrs. Golden Weston and other adult education heads, will provide instruction asked by various local groups and agencies.

Yost Statement
It was accompanied by a statement from School Auditor Harold Yost that "adult education is one of the two school activities that pays its own way and a profit besides. It brings in a total of about $10,000 a year, in state allowances," he said. The adult education program budget, including last night's increase, will be $27,000 for the year. Based on attendance at this year's classes, the district will receive from the state next year $35,920, it is estimated. The other school activity that brings in more than is expended, is the instruction to inmates of the county juvenile home. Santa Ana provides the two teachers at the home, and receives credit for average daily attendance of home inmates.

Outlines Budget
Mrs. Weston, director of adult education, advised the board last night that, due to unusually heavy attendance at evening classes making it necessary to divide some of them, the budget for the first half-year would be $1384 short, and the new classes were added, another $612 would be required. She requested an increase of $2000.

The county agricultural department had requested the class in entomology. The Red Cross requested the class in home nursing. Plan reading was requested by the building trades, showcard and salesmanship classes by the retail clerks association, and store management by the Red and White Stores. Various individuals asked for the class in first aid essentials. Requests for classes in wood carving and weaving were not granted.

BEACH CITIES SPEED REPAIRS

Workers in the Orange county beach area today were viewing with satisfaction the near completion of "clean-up" work in putting back the tons of sand that had been washed up on highways and community streets as the result recently of a severe tidal storm.

With the exception of Pacific Electric tracks between Huntington Beach and Sunset Beach and minor damage to streets and sidewalks at Anaheim Landing, the damage to property has been slight, a survey of the territory revealed.

Colony Work Done
At Surfside Colony, just south of Seal Beach, S. C. Briggs, manager of the colony estimated that repair costs of damage to homes along the water front will total less than $700.

A number of beach homes had sand beneath them swept away and the cottages remained on the pilings, he said. All of the sand on the streets of the colony has been removed, Briggs said, and the place is approaching normal activity.

JAN. 15 DEADLINE FOR WORK-SHEETS

Farmers desiring to participate in the 1939 agricultural conservation program have until January 15 to file their worksheets, according to announcement today by John H. Burnett, secretary of the Orange County Agricultural Conservation association, with offices in the Medical building.

Although farmers who already have filed worksheets under the 1938 program are not required to file new sheets for 1939, those have had changes in the use of their land, size of farms and leasing arrangements are asked to report such changes to the office.

Final date on which ranchers may request range examinations for the new year has not been set as yet, Burnett stated.

PANCHO'S ONE FINE "FRAN"; HE NEVER FORGETS SANTA ANA PAL

There may be smarter dogs than Pancho, who's mostly airdale and partly whatever else you may wish to call him, but it would have to be proven to at least two persons, his master, young Dean Martin of Costa Mesa, and his pal, Jesse Jiles, blacksmith and welder at the Santa Ana garage.

Pancho, Pancho Villa for long (although he really has no inclination toward banditry as his name might imply), visits Santa Ana more regularly than the average out-of-city dweller looking for a political appointment. Pancho, who's about two years old, some six months ago lived on West First street, next door to the Jiles home, 108 North Ross street. —Then he moved to Costa Mesa with his master and his master's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Martin. But Pancho never forgets and he never forgot his old pal and next door neighbor, Jiles.

Regularly, once, twice, sometimes three times a week, Pancho trots into Santa Ana from Costa Mesa, goes to the Jiles home. When he doesn't find Jiles there, he goes to the city garage, looks Jiles up, barks gleefully when he finds his pal. After lying around near Jiles or trotting around beside him for the greater part of the day and occasionally having lunch with

One of a series of "at homes" which Mr. and Mrs. B. J. MacMullen have planned for the winter season took place Sunday afternoon in their home, 1919 Heliotrope Drive, preceding a supper party at the Country Club.

The hosts had arranged the informal hospitality to honor their houseguests, Mrs. MacMullen's nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Harrison of Des Moines, Iowa. Others in the group were the Paul Dimsom, Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Mellenthin, Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Hall, and the H. T. Dunning, with Mrs. Lucy Keefer of Los Angeles.

Event in Los Angeles

Miss Leonora Tompkins of this city, secretary of the Alchin Harmony association of Southern California and her guest, Miss Mildred Marchant of Tustin were among those in attendance Sunday at the organization's monthly meeting in Los Angeles.

Their husband and father, General Beingolea, is head of the army of national defense of Peru. The Beingolea family was at mass in Lima, sitting a short distance from President Luis Sanchez-Cerro at the time he was assassinated.

At the close of the Alchin Harmony association meeting, tea was served by Miss Doris Moon, head of Santa Monica schools' music department and Miss Stanley.

Merry Hard Times Party

Current Events And Books Reviewed For Ebell Women

Rapid surveys of the European situation and of conditions in Mexico, coupled with summaries of various books of the late winter list, made Mrs. Jack Valley's program for Ebell society members, a very interesting feature of yesterday afternoon in the clubhouse auditorium.

Mrs. Valley reminded her audience of some of the European developments which fulfilled prophecies she had voiced in November at her last previous club program. One in particular was threat to French colonial possessions, and she told of many of the well-known news commentators and their statement that the next European crisis will develop in February, with everything pointing to Hitler's demand for the return of Alsace.

Poland's dissatisfaction with the present situation was commented upon, and led up to a discussion of the tendency of Slavic countries of central Europe to form a "Third Europe" combining to check Germany's continued advance, and with the possibility of stronger alliance with Russia.

Mexico's Affairs A mid-winter visit to Mexico provided Mrs. Valley with many interesting conclusions regarding that country. Declaring that she could easily wax lyrical over such things as Taxco's charm, the hanging gardens of Xochimilco, the pyramids beyond Mexico City and the Temple of the God of the Winds, she pointed out the change in the spirit of Mexico. It is, she declared, the most exciting and stimulating of any foreign country she had ever visited, with a youthful enthusiasm apparent in all government officials.

She stressed that the present government is definitely socialistic rather than communistic, and cited the primers and first grade text books of the schools, as showing that socialistic trend. University required courses include the works of Karl Marx, she stated.

The country's internal economy program; the attention being paid to compulsory education to change the great mass of population into educated classes; the problems of securing teachers in an effort to maintain the democracy, which absolutely must be based on education, all these were discussed in terse, pithy accounts of her trip and interviews with government executives.

Book List In addition Mrs. Valley discussed the Henry Mamford Parkes "A History of Mexico," gave much time to "Prince Metternich in Love and War" (de Reichenberg) and to the slim Van Loon book, "Our Battle," based on this country's apathy to the ideas, ideals and religious philosophy quite as necessary to continued existence as the food of the Marxian theories, and the various books on her January list. These included several volumes of sheer humor, prominent among which was "Dithers and Jitters" by Cornelia Otis Skinner; a novel of adventure, "Colin Lowrie" (Norah Lofth) and John Fante's "Wait Until Spring, Bandini," which she suggested as a worthy successor to the Steinbeck books. Max Miller's "A Stranger Comes to Port," she characterized as the best this Sand Diego newspaperman has yet done. She added one play, the Kaufman and Hart "The Fabulous Inva'd," dealing with the continued life of the theater.

Preceding the review, Mrs. W. S. Thomson, Ebell president, conducted a short business meeting during which several announcements were made. These included that of the district short-story contest, in which Mrs. J. M. Cloyes asked that entries be placed with her by April 1. Stories may be 1000 words or less, and must be submitted with names of authors placed in sealed envelopes accompanying entries. First prize will be $5.

Magnolia Camp Holds Open Installation Ceremonies

Magnolia camp R.N.A. began a new year of activity last night with open installation ceremonies which drew scores of members and guests to Veterans hall. District Deputy Lenore Fletcher of Long Beach was installing officer.

When members learned yesterday that Chester Gross, husband of the oracle-lecter, Ethel Gross, had been injured in an accident, they supposed that installation plans would be postponed. However, Mr. Gross expressed the wish that the original plans be carried out, sending his congratulations to his wife by means of a lovely bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Nettie Smith, retiring oracle, wore a rose lace frock with a corsage bouquet of orchids. Mrs. Gross and members of her staff were gowned in white with corsage bouquets of gardenias. Mrs. Fletcher was in rose lace and Mrs. Lenora Farmer of this city, ceremonial marshal, was in white. Gowned in pastel frocks were members of the escort team, Fern Willis, Estee Gerrard, Pearl Laub and Isabel Fink. Little Miss Lila Mae Fink, flag bearer, wore a red frock.

Assuming their duties with Mrs. Gross were Jean Tibbets, vice oracle; Nettie Smith, past oracle; Gertrude Birt, chancellor; Laura Dunlap, recorder; Marguerite Crawford, receiver; Mary Kendall, marshal; Ruth Dunlap, assistant marshal; Gladys Harmon, inner sentinel; Alene Lee, outer sentinel; Lillian Keck, manager; Ethel Knox, Kristine Nielsen, Alice Tabb, Mary Schrock and Fern Smith, the graces—faith, courage, modesty, unselfishness and endurance; Grace Gross, musician; Agnes Buckwalter, flag bearer.

Preceding installation, vocal solos were given by Miss Nina June Robertson. During installation of the graces, bass solos were sung by Mr. Sampoio, accompanied by Mrs. Johnston. Decorations in the hall included baskets of poinsettias and coteaster against a background of greenery.

One of Mrs. Gross' first duties as oracle, was presentation of a past oracle's jewel to Mrs. Smith. There were various gift presentations during the evening, with officers accorded special honors.

Dancing to the music of a five-piece orchestra was enjoyed following the ceremonies.

Gold Star Mothers Spend Day in Quilting Since Legion Mothers club was not meeting yesterday in Veterans hall, the sister organization of Gold Star Mothers, with an almost identical membership, staged an all-day quilting session in the hall.

There was the usual array of tempting home-prepared dishes to be enjoyed at the mid-day luncheon when quilting was abandoned for a friendly social hour. Mrs. Edith Reynolds and Mrs. Alma Kellogg took over the duties of serving the menu, and Clay Minix, Veterans hall adjutant, joined the Mothers for this interval. Others present were Mesdames Mary Croal, Martha Elliott, Lavinia Woods, Mamie Gibson, Iona S. Sharp and Susie Lamb.

Unexpected Pleasure

Completing a New Years holiday visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Willis Rice, East Seventeenth street, James Rice Jr. has returned to his duties as purser on the Grace freighter, "Condor." He was able to spend over a week here at his home, and enjoy the first holiday visit with his parents in several years.

The Condor is one of the Grace liners, which plies between Vancouver and Valparaiso. It lay in Los Angeles harbor for several days because of shipping difficulties, thus affording the Santa Ana an unexpected opportunity for the mid-winter visit here in his boyhood home.

More books have been written about Abraham Lincoln than about any other man. Napoleon held the record prior to 1870.

"VITAMINS NECESSARY TO HEALTH OF MAN" This statement is made by such eminent authorities as—Dr. Thomas Hunt Morgan, Commander-in-Chief; Dr. Henry Borsook, Biochemist and Dr. E. D. Kramers, M. D., of Caltech's Biological Laboratory and Clinic, Pasadena, Calif.; Dr. E. V. McCollum of John Hopkins University; Dr. Charles Mayo, Rochester, Minn., and many others.

The fact that we must have the required vitamins and minerals daily to maintain good health is no longer disputed. Therefore, we owe it to ourselves to do all possible to supply these.

A SCIENTIFIC INSTRUMENT HAS BEEN PERFECTED WHEREBY WE CAN DETECT IN THE HUMAN BODY THE VITAMINS AND MINERALS IT MAY LACK. THIS, WITH AN OUTLINE OF THE GOODS WHICH CONTAIN THE DEFICIENT ELEMENTS, LEAVES NO GUESSWORK IN PROVIDING THE PROPER VITAMIN AND MINERAL BALANCE. . . . WE HAVE INSTALLED THIS INSTRUMENT. IT IS THE ONLY ONE IN ORANGE COUNTY. IN ORDER TO ACQUAINT THE RESIDENTS OF THIS VICINITY WITH THIS NEW DISCOVERY, WE ARE EXTENDING THE COURTESY OF THIS TEST TOGETHER WITH A PHYSICAL EXAMINATION WITHOUT CHARGE FOR 4 DAYS . . . BY APPOINTMENT ONLY.

(We welcome mothers with children of school age as vitamins and minerals play such an important part in building strong bodies and alert minds. Also elderly people and those suffering from various ailments will find valuable information by checking up on their vitamin and mineral deficiencies.)

Community Players Anticipate Barn Meeting

The occasion is the January meeting of the association in The Barn at 8 o'clock, when Mrs. David Collins (Marian Graaf) will continue in her capacity as Barn chairman. She has arranged as a musical feature, numbers by the talented Collins twins of Anaheim. Association members and friends who are entering one-acts in the annual One-Act Play-Writing contest of the association, are asked to bring their manuscripts Thursday night. The evening will include the customary social hour with refreshments.

Jimmie Fidler in hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, January 10.—This is the season when critics everywhere are picking the "best" this and the "best" that of the past year—and, reading their published verdicts, I'm doing my annual burn. For instance, the New York critics have selected Margaret Sullivan's performance in "Three Comrades" and Jimmy Cagney's performance in "Angels With Dirty Faces" as the best acting of 1938. I disagree—and I resent the psychology that's apparent in such selections.

Those critics are too obviously influenced by the fact that Cagney and Sullivan are "big stars." As a matter of fact you, or I, or any one in any audience can count on the fingers of one hand the pictures in which the stars have actually given the best performances. Nine times out of ten, stars merely play themselves. They use the same trick gestures that have been applauded in all their previous pictures. Any semblance of characterization is carefully avoided because their fans do not want them changed. The real performances are turned in by the character actors—who are the only actors given a chance to act.

Consider Basil Rathbone as Louis XI in "If I Were King," Minnie Dupree in "The Young of Heart," Fay Bainter in "White Banners," Miles Mander as Disraeli in "Suez," Gloria Holden in "Test Pilot," John Barrymore in "Hold That CO-ED," and Gene Lockhart in "Algiers" to cite a few. None of those actors are popular idols, but if acting—and acting alone—is to be considered, just what price the personality boys and girls?

IDOL CHATTER: Hollywood, according to Jerry Wald, is the place where children have Santa Claus and grown-ups have Santa Anita. Height of something, or other: the sun lamp Nat Penleton has installed for the comfort of his asthmatic dog, Sandow. Claudette Colbert isn't superstitious—but she can cite innumerable instances to prove how unlucky it is to put on your right shoe first. Add finger-nail biter: Katharine Hepburn. The only comment I can coin on Claude Rains' mid-winter dips in the briny is a shuddersome "br...r...r!"

No matter how hard she tried, Irene Dunne simply couldn't be unladylike. Odd, with all the anti-Nazi furor in Hollywood, the one foreign language heard most often here should be German. Peas in a pod: Joyce Compton and Gladys George. If I were going to take up professional prize fighting, I'd gladly trade my frame for Joan Crawford's—d'ja ever note those shoulders? George Raft's shiny black hair is a perfect complement to his shiny black patent leather shoes.

The snooziest stars in town are Fred MacMurray, Vic McLaglen and Gary Cooper—between shots they're always in a doze. Improbabilities: Mary Brian without a date...Loretta Young out of love. The new leopard skin furs Elaine Barrie Barrymore is wearing are a bit too suggestive, according to her more catty critics. Charles Boyer's ruffle-proof suavity always makes me wonder how he missed the diplomatic service. Today's philosophy: Stars who complain about the burden of the public's curiosity usually end by lamenting the lack of it.

If you see Republic's "White Fury," please note the close-up of Ben Weldon and Horace McMahon—the one in which Barton MacLane's voice, coming from off-stage, snarls: "Don't move, or I'll kill you!" When that bit of tense melodrama was filmed, Barton was standing just out of camera range. He was wearing a pink shirt and pearl gray spats—and in one hand he held a half-eaten ice cream cone.

Maxie Rosenbloom is very gloomy these days—which just goes to show what superstition can do to an ordinarily sanguine soul. In "The Kid Comes Back," produced nearly two years ago, he was knocked out—a phony K. O., of course—by the hero Wayne Morris. That was the first time the great Maxie had ever reclined on the canvas, but not the last. His next professional fight was with Louis Adamic, and Maxie went down for the count. Now, in "Broadway Cavalier," the script again calls for Wayne Morris to lay Maxie cold—and Maxie has a probable fight coming up with Max Baer. Two and two makes four—and Mr. Rosenbloom is worried.

At Universal today, Emma Dunn, the veteran-actress wife of veteran-actor Harry Beresford told me about an amusing incident. Summoned for a test—and the casting director, after one look at her, ruled that she was too small for the role. He explained that she was supposed to play a hen-pecked wife. Miss Dunn asked the casting director to see her with the man hired for the husband role. He consented, called the actor, and Miss Dunn took the situation in hand. The man was Harry Beresford.

Young Pianist Appears In Sunday Recital

Miss Anita Jean Wollert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Wollert of Orange Park Acres was presented in piano recital Sunday afternoon by her teacher, Virginia Adams Beeler. Seventy guests were received in the Visel-Haughton studios, 425 West First street for the program.

The young pianist had planned a varied program of twelve selections, playing compositions of Chopin, Mozart, Friml and Schumann. Assisting artist was Miss Charmean Carlson, who sang vocal numbers, accompanied by Daniel Stover.

Red gladioluses and poinsettias decked the studio for the affair, which was concluded with an informal social interval. Mrs. Wollert assisted Mrs. Beeler in serving refreshments.

Mixing Bowl

By ANN MEREDITH

The ability to make an appetizing stew is not only a talent but a masterly stroke of economy!

What goes into a good stew? Well, the meat has the largest part to account for, and it may be veal, beef or lamb, but for the sake of argument let's say veal: buy a shoulder or neck cut, have about four pounds chopped into good sized squares, wash and drain before rolling in flour. Brown lightly in bacon fat and transfer to a 1 1/2 quart stew kettle. Add a pint of sliced onions, plenty of parsley and a few celery tops, chopped fine, and a judicious seasoning of garlic, for veal and garlic have long been buddies. Cover with hot water and simmer for an hour before adding salt. Add now a pint of diced carrots and simmer until tender, then add a can of new potatoes, boil up and thicken the gravy. Serve with hot biscuits, green salad and baked apples.

Left over stew, diluted, strained and combined with a can of tomato soup, will provide next day's luncheon dish, at a cost of 10 cents.

Tell Mixing Bowl readers about your favorite budget-saving dish, won't you? In exchange for your contribution and a stamped, return addressed envelope, we will send you a copy of the Calory List with its new list of alcoholic drinks.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Old-Fashioned Baked Beans

4 cups small white beans (navy)
1 pound pickled salt pork
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon each, salt and black pepper.

1/2 cup molasses
Pick over and wash beans after dinner. Cover with cold water and soak until morning. Put the beans and water over a brisk fire, bring to a hard boil and par-boil for 15 minutes. Drop in a pinch of soda (to loosen skins) drain and rinse through several changes of hot water.

The best dish for baked beans is a shallow tin pan, a milk pan to be exact. Mix the seasonings and slice the pickled pork. Arrange layers of beans with pork and seasonings. Mix the black molasses with a pint of hot water; pour over beans and start baking in a 275 degree oven. As the top crusts, turn it under and keep adding hot water in small amounts until the beans have taken up all water required. Two hours before the beans are done (at least eight hours baking time) sink a few small boiling onions in the beans, bring the pork to the top and finish without further stirring.

SALLY BLAIR—heroine. She had everything that popularity could win her, except...
DAN PENNOCK—hero. He might have had Sally but while he was king on skis...
COREY PORTER—king of the social whirl. So... But go on with the story.

CHAPTER XXV

AFTER Dan had found Sally and Corey, the rest of the trail down had been easy to make. Not only because the storm had lifted, as Sally had noticed, but because Dan had taken the precaution to note landmarks, a pair of twin pines, standing solitary and alone, the frozen waterfall again, a certain big rock, small things in themselves, but guideposts that led to safety.

They did not say much until afterwards. There was no need for words. Afterwards there would be plenty of time to say all that must be explained and understood between them.

Corey knew, too well, that there was no need for him to say anything. When they finally had reached the lodge and warmth and security, he stopped and thrust out a hand toward Dan. He had gained control of himself once more; he was the old Corey, self-contained, almost arrogant. "Thanks, old man," he said. He wore his wide grin, but his blue eyes were narrowed. "You saved our lives again. The third time for Sally—and the third time is the charm, you know."

"That's all right," Dan said briefly. He accepted Corey's hand. "Forget it. You'd have done the same." But they knew, all three of them, that that was not so.

"Well, so long," Corey dropped Dan's hand. "I want to get pawed out. You two probably have forgot you're nearly frozen. You won't miss me." His laugh was short. At his own expense. For Corey knew that this was one time he had not won.

"Sally, my sweet," he looked at her a brief moment, she was sweet, she was too good for him, he knew that now; but he could make her one last gift, leave her with one kind thought for him, "the best man wins. And that's Dan, of course. He was always the best man, Sally. I tried to outsmart him. But it didn't work. Don't blame Dan for anything. So long, and good luck to you both." Before they could answer, he had turned and left them.

SALLY only looked after the tall blond figure, somehow gallant in this moment of defeat, a second. She turned to Dan, her dark eyes softly shining.

"I don't know how to thank you," she said. "To think you would risk your own life, Dan, to come after us. To think I ever stopped believing in you, even for a little while!"

"I don't blame you for that," Dan said. "I ran away. But I had my reasons. I meant to come back some day, when I could pay back all that I owed to you and your father, Sally."

Then he knew about that! Someone else had told him. Sally began to understand a little.

"Corey told you—that last night, before you went away?" she said. That was what Corey had meant when he said he had tried to outsmart Dan. Poor Corey, who had thought he had to win, no matter what means he must use.

Dan nodded. "He told me a lot of things," he said grimly. "But we won't talk about that now. It's all past, all done. There are so many far more important things we have to talk about now, Sally. Do you think you can get off those damp clothes, hop into a warm bath, get dressed again, and meet me in a half hour—or is that too soon, darling?"

"It won't be nearly soon enough!" Sally dimpled at him. What Corey had said was true; she had forgotten that her clothes were damp and heavy, that her body ached with cold and weariness. The deep glow in her heart, the happiness spreading all through her, had given her all the warmth she needed.

IN half an hour to the minute, refreshed and rested, Sally met Dan. He had found a nook in the big living room of the lodge that was deserted. A window seat built just for two, looking out on the beautiful white world that was calm and serene now that the storm had abated.

"There's so much to say," Sally said, with a sigh, as Dan took her hands and drew her down beside him. "Where shall we begin, Dan?"

"At the end," he answered, smiling. "Nothing else matters, does it, except that we have found each other again?"

"I've found myself," Sally returned; her dark eyes shining. "I thought I had changed before; I tried to change, for you, Dan. But I hadn't tried hard enough. I didn't kill the old Sally altogether. I should have told you the whole truth. But I was a coward."

"Don't say that!" He put a finger against her lips.

"Yes, I was," she insisted. Sally who put bravery of heart above everything else. "I was afraid to tell you the truth. In the beginning, Dan, I was afraid if you knew it was I—and my father—who wanted to help you that you would refuse help. You didn't believe in me then, you know, after that accident, when you were in the hospital, when you thought—because of me—you might never walk, or ski, again."

"I was afraid to believe in you, then," Dan admitted. "So I was as much at fault as you were."

"I SHOULD have told you, later," Sally continued, for she must make him believe in her now, "but I still was afraid. I still wasn't the Sally I was trying to be. I didn't know that the only thing not to fear is the truth. No wonder you didn't believe in me, Dan! No wonder you ran away from my world."

"I thought you were laughing at me, I thought you meant to deceive me," Dan explained; "to carry through that first dare. That was what Corey told me that night. And that you were engaged to him."

"Poor Corey," Sally said. It was easy to forgive him now, to understand. Though he had broken his word to her, nearly ruined all their lives.

"I told you that the past is gone," Dan said. "The future is all that matters. I had an offer today, Sally. Beside the Olympics. That's not what I want, after all. I'm going to stay here, at a good salary, instructing putting on exhibitions. I can begin to repay your father part what I owe him. I can take care of you, Sally. If you'll leave your world, and stay in mine."

He did not wait for her answer. He drew her to him, gently, yet forcefully. He found her lips. That first sweet kiss pledged their faith in one another more bindingly, more truly than any words.

"There's only one thing, Dan," Sally's dark eyes looked up into his, the soft color flooding her lovely face, "are you sure that you believe in me now, that I'm the kind of girl you want?"

For answer, Dan kissed her again. "You are the only girl I want," he said. "Queen of my heart."

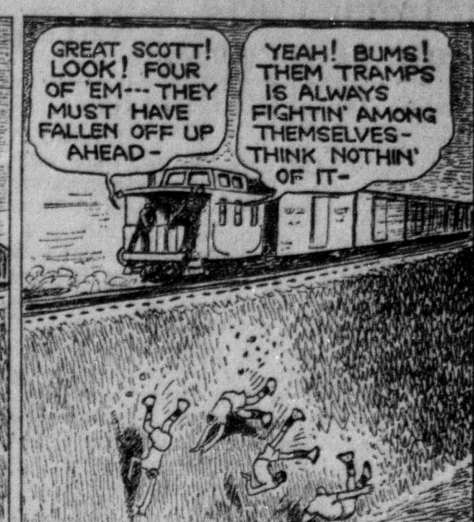

"And you're the king," Sally said. "King of skis. For—to me—ski's the limit, darling!"

SEX LESSONS

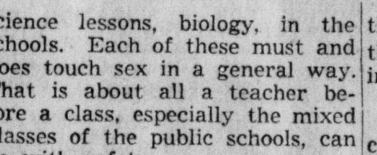

Sex is not secret. Nature never thinks of it as something to hide. In her realm it is a joyous, everyday matter to be taken as casually as one regards the sunshine and the rain. Only among human beings is sex something to consider reverently, cautiously, wise, for the creation of another human being is of the utmost importance to all nature, to all humanity, to society with all its complicated adjustments made necessary by custom, law and religion. These safeguards have been accepted so long that their recognition is summed up in society's term, "common sense."

For long years sex in relation to human beings was covered with a veil and spoken of in whispers if mentioned at all. The conspiracy of silence did not work. Nature is stronger than convention and the truth showed its face, often disconcerting the elders. Of late we have begun to speak out loud, to acknowledge the presence of a great force of life among us. We have about decided that it is useless and foolish to try to keep Youth from discovering something they know by intuition and instinct. We have about decided that it is better to teach Youth about this force than to keep its implication, its consequences and its power over them, secret.

The discussion centers now on how this shall be taught. By whom? Where? When? There are some who would have Sex in relation to human beings taught in the Junior High Schools. I am going on record now as against that practice. There are many reasons, all of them, to my mind, practically and mentally at different times. The physical growth and the mental growth of one child do not arrive simultaneously. One or the other lags. Age then is no measure of judgment as to the proper time. No two children will accept the idea in the same way. Their personal attitudes set by home, playground and education will not allow that. For one child the lesson will be wholesome, for another the contrary. So classification in schools will not help us.

Sex is no secret. Every child at the age of twelve knows something of its ways and its meanings. Every one of them has felt something of its urge, has had some experience with its influences. But the individual child feels, intuitively, instinctively, sex at work within him, and each must express it, must approach its growth, must interpret its use and its meaning according to his needs and temperament. Sex is an individual matter if ever there was such. Then class instruction is not the answer.

SEX LESSONS

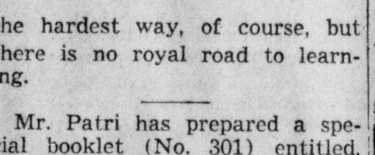

Sex is not secret. Nature never thinks of it as something to hide. In her realm it is a joyous, everyday matter to be taken as casually as one regards the sunshine and the rain. Only among human beings is sex something to consider reverently, cautiously, wise, for the creation of another human being is of the utmost importance to all nature, to all humanity, to society with all its complicated adjustments made necessary by custom, law and religion. These safeguards have been accepted so long that their recognition is summed up in society's term, "common sense."

ART GROUP PLANS ONE-MAN EXHIBIT

LAGUNA BEACH, Jan. 10.—Resuming activities, the Laguna Beach Art association will exhibit the new one-man showing of pictures by Captain Vladimir Perilleff, on the lower gallery walls. The exhibit covers a wide range, including landscapes, marines, life studies and allegorical subjects. Capt. Perilleff, formerly an officer of Cossacks in the Czar's army, has been a resident of Laguna Beach and San Juan Capistrano for several years. The exhibit will continue, commencing tomorrow, until January 15.

Other art activities include a showing of three pictures by Karl Yens, at the local branch of the county library on First street. The subjects are: "Hot Day in August," "Friends of Nature," and "Hot Day in August."

The monthly tea at the Art gallery, scheduled for Sunday, (Jan. 7), was postponed for one week, and will be held on Sunday afternoon, Jan. 14.

Much regret is expressed by members of the Art association at the recent death of Frank Tenney Johnson, who passed away last Sunday in Los Angeles. Johnson, whose depictions of the old West ranked him with Charles Russell and Frederick Remington, had been a member of the local association, in which he had many friends.

LA HABRA TO HAVE NEW SCOUT TROOP

LA HABRA, Jan. 10.—A new Scout troop is promised for La Habra and will start operation right away. There has long been a need for the establishment of another scout troop here but the finding of a sponsor and scoutmaster hindered this work. The La Habra Kiwanis club at its meeting Wednesday night definitely made plans to sponsor the troop and have secured the services of H. L. Knauss as scoutmaster. Harrison White, Scout executive of Orange county was at the meeting and explained the financial and other responsibilities of a sponsor.

The present Scout troop which should have a maximum of 32 members has been composed of 45 members and there are a group of Cub Scouts ready to become full fledged Scouts as soon as they meet the required age. It is expected that the new troop will be filled almost as soon as it is formed.

On the Kiwanis Scout committee are T. L. Rosenberg, W. D. Threlkeld and I. E. Wiede. J. D. Severns, Scoutmaster of the now existing troop was given high praise for his work. This troop is sponsored by the American Legion here.

ACTRESS IN BANKRUPTCY

LAGUNA BEACH, Jan. 10.—Another milestone in the career of Barbara Reed, erstwhile motion picture star, was marked last week, with the filing of a petition in bankruptcy by "Mrs. William Paul," Miss Reed's name in private life, since her romantic elopement to Mexico two years ago, when she married William Paul, scion of the well-known Paul family, Laguna Beach artists, writers and puppeteers.

In her petition, Barbara Reed lists her assets at $850, an automobile being the largest item; while debts aggregating $4,771 are also set forth. Miss Reed is well known in Laguna Beach where for some years she resided with her aunt, Mrs. Charles J. McCullough of 640 Park avenue. The greatest part played by the motion picture starlet was one of the "Three Smart Girls," which, incidentally, catapulted Deanna Durbin to fame.

it with the Yanks this year. "We won by nine or ten games last year," he said, "and this year we ought to be better. Charley Keller will make the outfield better, and Hildebrand figures to win 15 or more games. Too Gehrig is sure to have a better year. We ought to win in a breeze. We not only have good hitting—we have the best defensive club in the league."

Joe thinks Eldon Auker, and Jake Wade, the pitchers Boston got from the Tigers, will help the Sox.

"You just can't hit that Auker's sinker ball into that short left field stand, and Wade is a southpaw with lots of stuff."

Joe isn't inclined to be any too "high" on Hutchinson, the younger pitcher Detroit bought from the Coast league for $50,000. He says his brother Dominic, who plays for San Francisco, never had any trouble hitting Hutchinson, and besides, if he had really been so hot, the Yanks would have gotten him.

DiMaggio had a good word for Wes Ferrell.

"He's a new man since he got with the Yanks," Joe said. "All hell with a lot of games this year. He says the operation fixed his arm up, and he is ready to go."

During our conversation I asked Joe to name the best pitcher he ever faced.

"That's easy," he said. "Dizzy Dean. From here to yonder. But if I had to pick a pitcher to work for me when I had all my dough riding, that Rufing would be good enough for me."

chairs and other men are getting into the habit of putting in five or ten minutes on a three-hour job, something should be done."

Horrell, who is succeeding Coach Bill Spaulding, minimized the affair, saying "the boys just got panicky. There is really no reason to get excited."

He said jobs have been cut off, but was assured that "alumni and friends of the university" will find work for all players.

As for the tough schedule the working football players outlined, Horrell said the teams never practice four hours a day, and if the players studied four hours a day, they should be getting good grades, indeed.

University rules forbid any member of a Yale coaching staff from speaking at a high or preparatory school banquet.
